The big boy turned and in the sale was a claim to rob you if you are rich and insult you if you are poor. The big boy turned red in the face, and took the other by the collar, say-ing: "Toke that back, sir!" The little belligerent was pluck, but two upon one was too many for him. "Oh," said he in conciliatory way "I was only fooling; I good JUST RECEIVED, idn't mean it." There was something in the little follow's avenue the way something in the little fellow's eye, though, as he spoke, that showed how deeply be felt the humiliation of the spology, and there was a curl of the lip toward his antarquist, as he ceased speaking that seemed to some of us little fellows to take the rough edge of the apology. The fight ended as all boy's quarrel's do, and the boys went back to school The little boy who spologized diffut say much to the bully that day, but we heard ilm whisper to his seat mate, "I don't care if he is bigger'n I am ; if I catch him alone I'll lick him." Next day the bully came into school with a mecker aspect than usual, and looking as though he had the nose bleed. The report among the boys was that Sam Barely "caught him alone" on his way to school that morning. The story has no particular point or mor-

Thrilling Prophecy.

In last February Alabama seceded! That brave old man, Senator Clemers, who had, until then, breasted all the storms of wild fanaticism, and clung to the flag of our Union, yielded to the popular clamor, and ansheathed his sword in a cause he hat ed, and one he knew could not succeed

I am not ashamed to confess that I could not restrain my tears when the old hunner, which I have followed through so many dangers, was torn down and the fing of Alabama raised in its place. I cannot reatrain them now when I am writing; but the deed is done-a new ere has dawned, and all that I can promise is that no effort shall be spared on my part to prevent it from becoming and era of disgrace. If we are not involved in a war we soon will be. There is no hope of yeace; and he is but lit-tle better than a madman who decams of long ecomption from invasion. I shall meet it when it comes as a soldier should, and light through it as long as a hope remains.
